

Sixth Form Student Bulletin: w/c 15th July 2019 Week A

We wish you all a really happy, restful and safe summer holiday!

Thank you for all the wonderful work you have done in school this year raising money for good causes and supporting younger students and the staff.

Wednesday 17th July is Sports Day. You will not go to enrichment on this day but we do need you in school helping to make the Sports Day a success. We will all meet on Tuesday at the end of p3 to discuss the roles that need filling on Sports Day.

- 16th July: At the end of p3 there will also be a quick meeting for subject mentors and Year Captains
- 19th July: Break up at lunchtime with a final assembly for the whole school during period 3. Please go straight to tutor bases and come to the sports hall with your tutors. Please dress smartly. Attendance is compulsory.
- 15th August: Results Day 8.45am for Year 13 and 11.00am for Year 12
Please remember on Results Day that staff are there to help. If you haven't gained the 3 AS passes necessary for entry in to Year 13 please don't rush off –STAY AND TALK TO STAFF. We are in school the next day as well so if you feel your results need discussing we are around.
- 22nd August is GCSE Results day for those of you collecting English and Maths results. Please come in from 9.00am
- Tuesday 3rd September: Return to school. Year 13 students to arrive in the Common Room during break time please. Head Boy/ Girl and Deputies please arrive at 9.30am
- Year 12 students will be arriving in the Common Room at 9:45am. I know you will be welcoming as they start to settle in to Sixth Form life next term. He

The Emily Barker Day: Thank you!

We will carry on trying to raise money this week for the charity- in particular on Sports Day we will be running stalls again.

What a fantastic start to your charity fund raising, you have raised a massive £ 1,250 so far. Thank you to everyone who helped make this important fund raiser such a success – here are a few photos – more will be in the Common Room over the next few days – look out for them.

Positions of responsibility (in case you didn't see this last week)

Thank you to everyone who applied to either be Head Boy/Girl or a Year Captain, we have some amazingly confident speakers in our sixth form this year who we think you will agree put forward some excellent points. The amount of Year Captain applications this year has been staggering and the amount of detail and enthusiasm in the letters of application has been brilliant.

Environmentalists Have Removed 40 Tons of Rubbish from The Great Pacific Garbage Patch

July 13, 2019

The non-profit organization Ocean Voyages Institute has successfully removed more than 40 tons of fishing nets and plastics from the area known as the North Pacific Subtropical Convergence Zone, or more commonly known as the Great Pacific Garbage Patch.

Ocean Voyages Institute

The latest annual clean-up voyage by the sailing cargo ship, S/V KWAI, completed a 25-day clean up mission in the Pacific, between California and Hawaii. In this region, four ocean currents converge to create a vortex that collects huge amounts of plastics.

The ship returned to Honolulu filled with detergent bottles, beer and soft drink crates, bleach and cleaning bottles, plastic furniture, packaging straps, buckets, children's toys, and myriad types of plastic floating mid-ocean.

"Satellite technology played a key role in our recovery effort, offering an innovative solution to finding areas of dense plastic pollution," said Mary Crowley, Founder and Executive Director of OV Institute. "The nets and other debris are signs of the proliferating plastic pollution that poses threats to marine life, coastal environments, shipping, fisheries, wildlife and our health."

OVI has mounted nine previous clean-up voyages to the area but says its latest haul was the largest and most successful to date.

"It is very disturbing to be sailing through what was only decades ago a pristine ocean wilderness and find it filled with our all-too-familiar garbage," says Crowley.

"Urgent action is needed at all levels: curtailing the manufacture of throwaway plastics, preventing plastic trash from entering the oceans, and enlisting the public, corporations, and the maritime industry in education, prevention, innovation and massive clean-up efforts. The question is, are we ready to make it a priority to protect 72 percent of the planet?"

Newlyweds, Both 100 Years Old, Fell In Love At An Assisted Living Facility

July 4, 2019

Two century-old seniors have tied the knot after meeting in their assisted living facility in Ohio.

John and Phyllis Cook met at the Kingston Residence of Sylvania and dated for about a year before they went to get their marriage license on Wednesday.

They ended up just having their wedding right there.

"It wasn't the plan, but we got here and they said we could marry you here. I said 'good, let's get it over with!'," said John John is a World War II veteran that recently turned 100. Phyllis, originally from West Virginia, will turn 103 on August 8th, which is still three years shy of how old her mother lived to be.

"To tell you the truth, we fell in love with each other. I know you think that may be a little bit farfetched for somebody our age, but we fell in love with each other," Phyllis said.

"Well, we were just compatible in a whole lot of ways, found ourselves enjoying each other's company," added John.
